The day is done:
Soft as a dream the sunset fades and dies.
And silent stars amid the dusky skies

The shadows wait: And climbing upward and over spires and too ers. Seem drawing soitly this dult earth of ours To heaven's gate.

We wait the night
With no vain thought of darkness or of dread,
But dream of peace for weary heart and head,
And slumbers light We wait, nor fear The few short hours of silecce and of alcom Before the eastern hills shall blush with bloor

And morn be near. My God 1 my all 1

When the dim hour grows near us by Thy grace To meet Thy white death-angel face to face And hear Thy call; When life lies low—
A gasping shadow by the alter stairs
That leadeth up from darkness unawares
To he aven's glow;

Then let us wait In faith and trust with prayers and blessi fond—
All mindful of the morning light beyond—
Before the gate.

Not sore distrest
But calmly folding life's dull garb away
Lie down in peace to wait the coming day
And find our rest.

Oshkosh, Wis., will soon become the western city of churches. Only two years ago it had a population of 9,000; now it has 18 churches, of which five have been organized since last April. The two youngest bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church-Tuttle of Montana, and Robertson, of Missouri-were raised as Methodists. The presiding bishop, Smith, of Kentucky, was formerly a Congregationalist. The success of the First Presbyterian church of Cincinnati has been so marked since it adopted the free-seat plan that the Fifth church has followea its example. Both attendance and church finances have increased over one-third.

The law of the Episcopal church of the United States, as amended by the late New York Convention, does not allow any minister of that denomination to marry parties, either ethics; and, in the meantime they of which have been divorced, except manage to have a pretty good time.
